Dear Joe,

I'm pleased to announce the enhanced Minerals Make Life website, recently upgraded with new pages, interactive elements and resources designed to make our site your go-to source for information on U.S. minerals mining. Visit the website to:

- Watch the first video in our new series exploring domestic minerals issues;
- Read our blog for NMA's perspective on the latest news;
- Click through an infographic highlighting the benefits of minerals to the U.S. economy;
- Utilize fact sheets outlining key statistics;
- View an interactive presentation that tells the story of minerals mining—how it facilitates innovation, growth and security, and ways in which the United States can reap more of these benefits; and
- Access the archive of Minerals Make Life monthly newsletters.

Through these new features, we'll continue to keep you updated on the latest minerals news and NMA's ongoing efforts to spread the word about the importance of minerals to innovation, growth and security in America.

Thank you,

Hal Quinn
President and CEO
